Satyajit (Jit) Patil

CS536: Introduction to Programming Languages and Compilers

Thomas Reps

Compile this program using the Makefile provided. The program requires an input (containing code written in the moo language) and an output file.

P6.java is designed to test the code generator. It does so by creating circumstances through which the robustness of the program is tested. Please read the comments in P6.java for further details on how the testing is done.